

Let the Bell's be exempt from rules? These rules or any other rules? That's really scary. To exempt them from rules that encourage competition in the marketplace is just nuts. Shouldn't you be more inclined to help the consumers than to give big breaks to big business that will lead very quickly to our loss of service providers and choice and competition in the marketplace. Think about the humans! Ann Long